PRELIMINARY RECITALS

Pursuant to a petition filed September 26, 2013, under Wis. Stat. § 49.45(5)(a), to review a decision by the Sauk County Department of Human Services in regard to Medical Assistance, a telephone hearing was held on November 11, 2013, at Baraboo, Wisconsin.

The issue for determination is whether the petitioner is ineligible for BadgerCare Plus if the amount he would pay for an individual health insurance policy offered by his employer is less than 9.5% of his total household income.

There appeared at that time and place the following persons:

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. Petitioner (CARES # [REDACTED]) is a resident of Sauk County.
2. The petitioner's gross household income is $1,995.00 per month.

3. The petitioner is offered health insurance subsidized by his employer. His share of the premium is $180.00.

DISCUSSION

BadgerCare Plus allows children under 19 and their parents to receive medical assistance if their income falls within the limits found in the BadgerCare Plus Eligibility Handbook, § 16.1.; Wis. Stat. § 49.471. Beginning on July 1, 2012, those with access to health insurance in which their employer pays at least 80% of the premium are ineligible for BadgerCare Plus if their household income exceeds 133% of the federal poverty. BadgerCare Plus Handbook, § 7.1. A second policy applies to new applicants, those with new employment, those who are completing their next review or renewal, or employed parents or caretakers added to the medical assistance group. This policy holds that those who meet the following conditions are considered to have current access and thus are ineligible for BadgerCare Plus:

- the individual could enroll in and be covered under the plan in the month for which eligibility is being determined, and
- the cost of coverage for the employee-only plan does not exceed 9.5% of the monthly household income.

BadgerCare Plus Handbook, §§ 7.1 and 7.3.3.

The policy goes on to state that “[w]hen an employed parent or caretaker has been determined to have current access, the individual's spouse will also be considered to have current access if the employer offers a plan that provides coverage to the spouse, such as employee + spouse or employee + family coverage.” Id. Finally, “[t]here are no good cause reasons for not enrolling in a health insurance plan when an individual has current access.” Id.

The petitioner concedes that the income numbers utilized by the respondent are correct, that his employer offers insurance, and that the premium is $180.00. However, petitioner argues that the insurance offered by the employer is simply unaffordable for the family.

I have no authority to ascertain the wisdom or logic of the healthcare regulations; rather, I must apply them as they are written. Because the petitioner is eligible to receive health insurance through his employer and the amount he pays for that insurance is less than 9.5% of her household’s total income, he is ineligible for BadgerCare Plus. This undoubtedly creates a hardship for his family, but I cannot consider this because the rules specifically state that there are no good cause reasons for not enrolling in a plan if he has current access to that plan. Therefore, I must uphold the agency’s decision to end petitioner’s BadgerCare Plus benefits.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The petitioner is ineligible for BadgerCare Plus because his premium for an employee-only policy is less than 9.5% of his total household income.

THEREFORE, it is

ORDERED

That the petitioner's appeal is dismissed.
