FINDINGS OF FACT

1. Petitioner is a resident of Milwaukee County. She is 71 years old.
2. [REDACTED] [REDACTED] is petitioner's daughter and primary caregiver. Ms. [REDACTED] appeared on petitioner's behalf at hearing.

3. There was an initial PA in this case for 106 units per week of PCW services. This was granted by ForwardHealth and was effective July 25, 2013.
4. On September 24, 2013, petitioner's provider submitted an amendment which is the subject of this appeal. The amendment requested and additional 44 units per week.
5. The amendment was denied.

DISCUSSION

MA coverage of PCW services is described in the Wis. Adm. Code, §DHS 107.112. Covered services are specified in subsection (1), and are defined generally as "medically oriented activities related to assisting a recipient with activities of daily living necessary to maintain the recipient in his or her place of residence in the community." Examples of covered services are assistance with bathing, with getting in and out of bed, with mobility and ambulating, with dressing and undressing, and meal preparation. The Code also provides that, "No more than one-third of the time spent by a personal care worker may be in performing housekeeping activities." Wis. Adm. Code, § DHS 107.112(3)(e).

In determining the number of PCW hours to authorize, the OIG uses the standard above along with the general medical necessity standard found at Wis. Adm. Code, § DHS 101.03(96m). Essentially the medical necessity standard requires a service to be basic and necessary for treatment of an illness, not necessarily the best service possible, and not just for convenience. To determine the number of PCW hours to authorize the OIG uses the Personal Care Screening Tool (PCST), a computer program it believes will allow it to consistently determine the number of hours required by each recipient. The PCST allots a specific amount of time in each area the recipient requires help, which the OIG's reviewer can then adjust to account for variables missing from the screening tool's calculations.

In the case of PCW services, MA pays only for medically-oriented activities related to assisting a recipient with activities of daily living necessary to maintain the recipient in his place of residence in the community. Wis. Admin. Code § DHS 107.112(1)(a). Covered PCW services include only the following:

1. Assistance with bathing;
2. Assistance with getting in and out of bed;
3. Teeth, mouth, denture and hair care;
4. Assistance with mobility and ambulation including use of walker, cane or crutches;
5. Changing the recipient's bed and laundering the bed linens and the recipient's personal clothing;
6. Skin care excluding wound care;
7. Care of eyeglasses and hearing aids;
8. Assistance with dressing and undressing;
9. Toileting, including use and care of bedpan, urinal, commode or toilet;
10. Light cleaning in essential areas of the home used during personal care service activities;
11. Meal preparation, food purchasing and meal serving;
12. Simple transfers including bed to chair or wheelchair and reverse; and
13. Accompanying the recipient to obtain medical diagnosis and treatment.

Wis. Admin. Code § DHS 107.112(1)(b).

It is petitioner's burden to establish the necessity of the requested time. At the time of hearing, petitioner did not offer any testimony of an objective nature. This would have been essential in this case. Some objective testimony with regard to petitioner's needs or the caregiver's duties and skills and efficiency. The problem with family members being the personal care workers is that it is that they may take more time to do care tasks due to inexperience or carelessness. Petitioner's daughter, the primary caregiver, testified. She did not address with any specificity why the initial PA of 106 units is insufficient or what tasks are not included. She did not argue with specificity what tasks require more time than the Department has already allotted. The testimony was not compelling with regard to the needs of petitioner. The focus of the testimony seemed to be the needs of the daughter with regard to her financial situation and that the changes and reduction make it difficult for her.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Petitioner did not meet her burden of establishing the need or appropriateness of the additional hours requested in the amendment.

THEREFORE, it is

ORDERED

That this appeal is dismissed.
