FINDINGS OF FACT

1. Petitioner (CARES # [REDACTED]) is a resident of Lincoln County.
2. Petitioner was an on-going MA recipient in 2012.

3. The petitioner's household child support liability is $483.00; the respondent assessed child support in the amount of $287.00 when calculating the MA overpayment.

DISCUSSION

MA overpayment recovery is authorized by Wis. Stat., §49.497(1):

(a) The department may recover any payment made incorrectly for benefits provided under this subchapter or s. 49.665 if the incorrect payment results from any of the following:

1. A misstatement or omission of fact by a person supplying information in an application for benefits under this subchapter or s. 49.665.
2. The failure of a Medical Assistance or Badger Care recipient or any other person responsible for giving information on the recipient's behalf to report the receipt of income or assets in an amount that would have affected the recipient's eligibility for benefits.
3. The failure of a Medical Assistance or Badger Care recipient or any other person responsible for giving information on the recipient's behalf to report any change in the recipient's financial or nonfinancial situation or eligibility characteristics that would have affected the recipient's eligibility for benefits or the recipient's cost-sharing requirements.

See also, the department's BC+ Handbook, § 28.2. The overpayment must be caused by the client's error. Overpayments caused by agency error are not recoverable.

It is a well-established principle that a moving party generally has the burden of proof, especially in administrative proceedings. State v. Hanson, 295 N.W.2d 209, 98 Wis. 2d 80 (Wis. App. 1980). The court in Hanson stated that the policy behind this principle is to assign the burden to the party seeking to change a present state of affairs. By seeking to recover benefits from the Petitioner, the agency is the moving party. The Department acknowledged the principle laid down in Hanson in Final Decision ATI-40/87198 where then-Deputy Secretary Richard Lorang ruled on August 17, 1995, that in any fair hearing concerning the propriety of an agency action, the county or state agency has the burden of proof to establish that the action it took was proper given the facts of the case.

At hearing, the respondent conceded that it had used an incorrect Child Support amount when it calculated the overpayment. As such, this matter will be remanded to the respondent to review and re-determine the MA overpayment, if any.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The respondent has not established an overpayment of MA benefits to the petitioner.

THEREFORE, it is ORDERED

That this matter shall be remanded to the respondent to review and re-determine the overpayment, if any, of MA benefits to the petitioner, in accordance with this Decision. All actions required by this Order shall be completed within 10 days following issuance of this Decision.
