FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The petitioner is a resident of Chippewa County.
2. The petitioner's application for medical assistance based upon a disability was most recently denied on January 14, 2015.
3. The petitioner earns more than $1,200 per month.

DISCUSSION

To qualify as disabled, the petitioner must meet the disability standard set by Supplemental Security Income (SSI) regulations. Wis. Stat. § 49.47(4)(a)4. The applicable SSI disability standards are found in the Code of Federal Regulations, Title 20, Part 416, Subpart I, and by reference Appendices 1 and 2, Subpart P, Part 404. She is disabled if she cannot engage in any substantial gainful activity because of a medically determinable physical or mental condition that will, or has, lasted at least twelve months. The Disability Determination Bureau determines if an applicant meets this definition by evaluating in sequence her current employment status, the severity of her medical condition, and her ability to return to vocationally relevant past work or to adapt to new forms of employment. 20 C.F.R. § 416.905 and § 416.920.

The SSI regulations require a five-step process. First, if the person is working at a job that is considered to be substantial gainful employment, she will be found to be not disabled without further review. To be considered engaged in substantial gainful employment a person generally must make at least the following income:

- (ii) Beginning January 1, 2001, and each year thereafter, they average more than the larger of:
 - (A) The amount for the previous year, or
 - (B) An amount adjusted for national wage growth, calculated by multiplying $700 by the ratio of the national average wage index for the year 2 calendar years before the year for which the amount is being calculated to the national average wage index for the year 1998.

20 CFR §416.974 (b)(2).

Using this formula and rounding to the nearest $10, the Social Security Administration set the 2015 wage limit at $1090 per month. <http://www.socialsecurity.gov/oact/cola/sga.html>. The petitioner has two jobs. She works 20 – 22 hours a week and earns $8 per hour on the first. She works 12 hours a week and earns $12 an hour on the second. This means that she earns at least $304 per week. Whether her monthly income is reached by multiplying her weekly income by 4 or 4.3 (the actual number weeks in the average month), she earns over $1,200 a month. Because this exceeds $1,090, she is engaged in substantial gainful activity and is ineligible for medical assistance based upon a disability.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The petitioner is ineligible for medical assistance based upon a disability because she is engaged in gainful employment.

THEREFORE, it is

ORDERED

The petitioner's appeal is dismissed.
