Subject: Electronic Communications by public officials

Electronic Communications created by public officials MUST remain a part of the public record and available for public disclosure. A third party (court if necessary) should determine if there is 'value' in the communication.

Public records must remain public.

"The moral test of a government is how it treats those who are at the dawn of life, the children; those who are in the twilight of life, the aged; and those who are in the shadow of life, the sick, the needy, and the handicapped." - Hubert Humphrey, 1976
