Rescind your attempts to limit access to elected or appointed officials' text messages, etc !It is unbelievable that you are even considering this policy revision, not to mention the clandestine manner in which you have gotten this far.

Officials are elected by the public, and appointees are appointed by publicly elected persons. Since Walker and the legislator have been ruled - and I mean ruled- by Republicans, the people, even those who voted for them, have been consistently cheated and tricked.

Quit hiding your intentions in obscure legislation and excuses that amount to downright lies including your attempts at 'clarification.' You are doing nothing more than attempting to cover your tracks - which are more accurately attempts to limit public knowledge and awareness of how you are continually attempting to gain power and more power over those who wish government to be open and accessible to those of us who vote honestly
