Subject: I believe in open government, please reconsider your decision on transitory records

Please leave our open records laws alone, and understand that "transitory records" are hardly that. The public deserves to know the workings of our government.

Violating open meeting laws to pass policies that obscure government communication makes it look like you have something to hide, and history has been proven correct in this case.

You must immediately rescind your August decision to make these records secret.

Public records must remain public. Don't create loopholes without any public scrutiny of what you're doing. In fact, how about not making any loopholes at all? Make records even more open! That might help regain some confidence that the board is actually looking out for Wisconsinites.

Sincerely,
