Subject: Issue of Preserving Public (especially transitory) Records in Wisconsin

Members of the Wisconsin Public Records Board:

Responding to my great concern about the movement afoot to destroy public (“transitory”) records in Wisconsin, Senator Darling recommended that I forward my deep concern to the members of the Public Records Board.

In this age of the massive use of electronic communication to conduct business in all arenas – a practice that is unlikely to be reversed – it is mind boggling to realize that the Board responsible for preservation of government documents would consider the destruction of these documents proper!

What are you thinking?

All electronic records used by public boards, commissions and government officials in the conduct of public business should NOT be exempt from public disclosure because we want and need to have an open, transparent, honest, straightforward government. REVERSE THE ASSAULT ON OPEN GOVERNMENT IN WISCONSIN NOW!
