Subject: Keep records open to the public!!

Electronic communications records created and sent while covering ANY public issues/business and/or acting in the role as a public official for the people of Wisconsin are NOT transitory, and should be considered public records available to those who wish to view them.

To try and pass laws that define electronic communications as transitory and not accessible to the public is just one more effort my corrupt politicians to hide their nefariously motivated activities that they know the public would not approve of.
