Who in the intelligent congress of the great state of Wisconsin has anything to hide that they would want to change or alter the open records laws of our state. How dare they think that the people of this state are that gullible to think that change in the open records law would benefit the people. The open records law should not be altered in any way so as to deceive the public. My wife and I would like the public records board to consider the travesty a change in the law would be to the people.
