Subject: Open Records

From a 50-year resident of Wisconsin: All records created in the course of their duties by any elected or appointed members of any local, state, or Federal agency in this state should be promptly and readily accessible to any citizen of the state, whether those records are written or in electronic form, as long as they are created in the course of the legally-established functions of the agency, PERIOD.

Anything short of that should be considered subject to criminal penalties. Whereas the present laws or regulations of the state may not go that far is unfortunate, but no weakening of the laws is acceptable. Please act accordingly.

Thank you.
