Gentlemen; ,

I am astounded at the recent efforts to undercut the public's right to know and the entire open records concept that protects our people and our government. To whittle away at the concept and to mess with definitions to lessen honest open records makes one wonder what secret doings our politicians are up to.

This is an attack on the people and on our democracy.

Many lives have been spent to gain our freedoms.

These freedoms should not be manipulated away.

History will have much to say about the legacy a few politicians are attempting to create.
