Dear State Public Records Board,

Open government is a proud tradition in Wisconsin. Unfortunately, open government is under attack. The State Public Records Board has an opportunity to stop the assault on public access to government records. State officials do not have the right to conduct the people's business in private. Instead, the State Public Records Board should rescind their August 2015 decision on transitory records. It is the responsibility of the Stae Public Records Board to protect, not limit, open government. Anything less is an unjust travesty.

Thank you for considering my input to this important issue.
