I most definitely want to voice my concern that all communications of public employees remain open to the public. It is mind-boggling to me that this is even an issue in this day and age. Electronic communications are the primary method of communication for most institutions these days. It is essential to our freedom that we have access to the communications taking place by our public officials.

Please put me firmly in favor of re-opening access to text messages, emails, and other electronic communications by public employees.

Sincerely,

Kathy Luty
