

Bruce Eggum

From: Bruce Eggum <bruce.eggum@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, January 5, 2016 11:12 PM
To: DOA Public Records Board Comments
Subject: Public Records

To: Public Records Board.

You asked for comments about restricting records availability.

My first thought is we are in the age of Transparency. I am constantly amazed the information I can get from Google. Information is posted, everyone sees it and if they have a different or perhaps better way they suggest it. Things are constantly improved and corrected in this fashion. The greatest learning I have found is from my mistakes. So posting records online with no restriction is my comment. Indeed, they are "Public Records".

Certainly we all have private records, but even these are mostly shared with certain people

Of course you can copy-write any document simply by stating this document is copy-written. This protects your work and you can control it.

All the Best to you. Bruce

Bruce Eggum, Gresham, Wisconsin