

Richard Chase

From: Richard Chase <chaserichard@att.net>
Sent: Wednesday, January 6, 2016 11:35 AM
To: DOA Public Records Board Comments
Subject: Public records access

Today much communication is done electronically. Whatever method is used records must be open and accessible to the public. Otherwise the public has no other choice but to believe that government is up to no good. This atmosphere of suspicion only fuels more mistrust and animosity. Elected officials need to understand that the voters are already marking their calendars and will remember to vote out those who want to suppress public access to government.