Our government belongs to us--and that includes the electronic communications used by Wisconsin public employees. The Joint Finance Committee may have been able to pull a fast one last July, but we will not allow this to happen again. Wisconsin has --until lately -- enjoyed a sterling reputation for clean, open, honest government. It is unconscionable for anyone in government to try to change this for their own selfish desires. The Journal Sentinel is right: There will be consequences in this election year for those who try to curb our access to our government. We're paying attention and we're taking names.

Sincerely,
