Subject: Rescind action to limit public access to electronic communications by public employees.

Many Wisconsin voters of both parties are becoming extremely frustrated with the tactics being employed by the current administration to conduct important government business in secret and limit the input of the citizens. The attempt to redefine electronic communication as "temporary" and thus not subject to the same disclosure requirements as other forms of communication is yet another sneaky method to let our Gerrymandered Wisconsin government undo the proud legacy of this state. These days, an immense amount of communication is conducted electronically, and citizens have a right to know that these text messages, emails, and other forms of electronic communication will be available to the public.

Thank you for reading and for doing what is right for our beleaguered democracy in Wisconsin.
