You just don't seem to get it that We the People have a right to know what is going on with and among those elected to represent us as well as other public employees. That right includes, in this digital age, all forms of electronic communication.

We prevailed when the joint finance committee tried to kill the open records law. If you don't rescind your attempt to limit access to electronic communications you can be sure that we will prevail again - at the ballot box.

We the People will not be trampled upon by those attempting to destroy our democratic form of government.
