Subject: open records law

I do think that it would be best for the state to open the door and let the sunshine in on records. There have been a lot of changes, such as gutting the open records law, which in the long run do harm to citizens of Wisconsin and reduce the quality and integrity of our government. I think all texts on government phones, as with corporate owned phones, should also be fair game as well. Without open records, we can expect more frequently that leaders will say they didn't know what happened in response to outcry after the fact. Eventually facts do come out.
