To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to express my concern to you regarding the open records law in Wisconsin and the definition of “transitory records”.

I am extremely opposed to any records, written or electronic, from being withheld from public disclosure. It saddens me to see the direction our politicians are taking in this state. As far as I can recall, it is a government for the people by the people. I want you to stop this action to limit public disclosure to any type of communication by public officials. Wisconsin used to be a transparent government, what happened?

Sincerely,
Daniel J. Serafin
