My name is Michael V. Uschan. My wife, Barbara, and I live in Franklin. We are upset at the repeated attempts by the Walker Administration and other Republicans to deny public access to records, paper or electronic, so the public can know what they are doing behind closed doors. As a reporter for four decades, I know how important freedom of information is so that public officials cannot make back-room deals or subvert the democratic principles underlying clean government. One of those principles is freedom of information and I do not like having that principle weakened.
