Subject: transitory records

During the current administration, citizen's access to all public records is being systematically scuttled in a ludicrous attempt to shield itself from public scrutiny. It's bad enough that a proud, progressive state is being taken back to the 1800's with every outlandish political trick in the books---let's not go under the table as well. Why should this even be a legitimate question? All records MUST be available to all citizens. Period!
